

Central Visayas

ECONOMIC FACTBOOK

Central Visayas
ECONOMIC FACTBOOK

ABOUT THE COVER

Central Visayas, strategically located in the center of the Philippine archipelago, is the corridor through which people and products are moved by land, air, and sea.

Economic activities thrive in the region supported by a network of world-class highways, bridges, international airports, and an international seaport connecting the islands in the Visayas to the rest of the world. The recently-opened Cebu-Cordova Link Expressway (CCLEX) is an integral part of that infrastructure network.

This 8.5-kilometer bridge connects mainland Cebu to Cordova town in Mactan Island, where the country's second busiest airport is located. It is not just an iconic landmark in the province but also enables increased economic activities across southern Philippines.

HOW TO USE THIS FACTBOOK

The Department of Trade & Industry (DTI) Region VII produced this 2020 Economic Factbook (eFactbook) to serve as a one-stop source of economic, trade and investment information for prospective and existing investors / entrepreneurs who want to do business in Central Visayas. Designed to promote ease in doing business, this investors' guide combines published data from DTI as well as other government, non-government, and private institutions. In this PDF-format factbook, information is presented in reader-friendly bits and pieces for easy reference and better understanding.

The eFactbook contains profiles of Central Visayas provinces, economic statistics, competitive index scores of cities and municipalities, data on infrastructure and facilities, manpower and talent available, trade and investment statistics, and other economic indicators. It details the process of how to set up shop in the Philippines, and the approximate cost of doing business in Central Visayas, including how to qualify for incentives from the Board of Investments (BOI) and Philippine Economic Zone Authority (PEZA). Wherever possible, facts and figures showing economic performance have been classified per province in Region VII — Bohol, Cebu, Negros Oriental and Siquijor.

Demographics and economic statistics in this Factbook were taken from the 2020 Regional, Social & Economic Trends (RSET) for Central Visayas, reflecting the most recent statistics available. However, there are some cases where the data presented is not that of the immediate past year, especially when statistics are dependent on the actual year the survey was conducted. For instance, the census of population is conducted every four years. Tables and graphs have been labeled accordingly for easy reference. This factbook also contains company-specific information from the various power, water, and telecommunication companies in the region.

There are sections where clickable links are provided, which direct the reader to specific sites of the data source. In the case of the Cities and Municipalities Competitiveness Index (CMCI) 2020, points in the map of Central Visayas lead the reader to the granular data of each city or municipality surveyed. When only the highlights of a topic are presented in the main body of the factbook, the complete data set is placed in the an Annexes section.

It is important to note that this eFactbook was produced during the pandemic. It heavily relied on online published data from the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA), National Economic Development Authority (NEDA), the DTI-Export Management Bureau (DTI-EMB), Philippine Economic Zone Authority (PEZA), Board of Investments (BOI), Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Cities and Municipalities Competitive Index Survey (CMCI), Department of Energy (DOE), Local Water Utilities Administration (LWUA), National Telecommunications Commission (NTC), Cebu Ports Authority (CPA), Mactan-Cebu International Airport Authority (MCIAA), Department of Transportation (DOTr), Department of Tourism (DOT), Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE), and Commission on Higher Education (CHED).

This eFactbook only serves as a guide and does not claim to have the complete information about Central Visayas or the process in doing business in the Philippines. If additional information or further data processing is needed, websites and data sources have been cited in the book or in the directory found in the last section. Queries may be addressed to the specific agency.

ABOUT THIS BOOK

The Department of Trade & Industry (DTI) Region VII produced this Economic Factbook (eFactbook) in digital format to serve as a one-stop source of information for investors and entrepreneurs.

Amid the backdrop of a global pandemic, the DTI chose to use this time to build a repository of data compiled from government, non-government agencies, and private utilities. The pandemic, which caused a major health crisis worldwide, also crippled the economies of even the most advanced nations.

As COVID-19 spread across the globe, countries had to resort to major lockdowns to curb its transmission. With these lockdowns came economic slowdowns, and the Philippines was not spared.

As there was very little that could be done to spur economic activity or promote investments, the DTI chose to prepare to 'build back better'. The agency used the economic downtime to put together a digital factbook containing comprehensive information on the Central Visayas region. It contains data that includes demographics, domestic markets, infrastructure, competitive index scores per city or municipality, manpower and skills available, economic indicators, and how to do business in the region.

Demographics

Despite being the Philippines' second smallest region in terms of land area, Central Visayas is the fourth largest regional economy in the country. Based on the 2020 Census of Population and Housing, the region's 8.08 million people — growing at an average of 1.88% — account for 7.41% of the country's population. It ranks 4th as the most densely populated region in the Philippines.

Central Visayas has a fairly predictable climate with temperatures ranging from 26

- 32 degrees Celsius. Although not without its fair share of typhoons and other climate disturbances, the region has shown its resiliency, having bounced back strongly from a 7.1 earthquake in 2013, a super typhoon that same year and also in 2021.

Regional Economy

The fourth largest regional economy in the country, Central Visayas is host to many industries, including shipbuilding, information and communications technology (ICT) & IT-enabled services, electronics, wearables, processed food, marine products, tourism, and houseware and furniture.

In 2020, it was the fourth largest contributor to the country's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) accounting for 6.4% of the Philippines' total GDP. Its Gross Regional Domestic Product (GRDP) growth rate of 7.1% in 2018 was higher than the national growth rate of 6.2%. The region's economy started showing signs of slowing down in 2019 and further dipped in 2020 when the pandemic began. It declined by 9.9%, compared to its 6.2% growth in 2019.

Cities and Municipalities Competitive Index (CMCI)

CMCI is a program that encourages local government units (LGUs) to gather and submit data that measure their performance using five core and convergent pillars: economic dynamism, government efficiency, infrastructure, resiliency, and innovation. Each pillar has 10 indicators that provide a more detailed view of the local economic status. Cities and municipalities are ranked by their competitiveness based on an overall competitiveness score.

Results of the 2021 CMCI survey show that Bohol has maintained its overall competitive ranking as the 20th most competitive province with a score of 34.7520. Siquijor ranked 27th (33.9672), Cebu ranked 50th (32.2486), and Negros Oriental ranked 70th (30.5826).

Infrastructure

Infrastructure is the backbone of a healthy economy. With its modern infrastructure and strategic location at the heart of the archipelago, Central Visayas has one of the most vibrant economies among all the regions in the country.

Power supply and distribution facilities are important considerations in deciding on an investment destination.. The Visayas Power Grid has an aggregate installed capacity of 1,523 MW. The region's energy sources are 73.37% coal, 23.91% renewable energy, and 2.72% oil-based. Power is distributed through 138 kV lines, except for Bohol whose network consists of 69 kV.

Central Visayas has 19 watershed areas spread across the different provinces in the region (Cebu - 9, Bohol - 5, Negros Oriental - 4, and Siquijor - 1) with a total aggregate area of 357,8006 hectares. Water sources include rain, inland freshwater (rivers, lakes, and groundwater) and the sea.

The trade liberalization policy initiated in 1990 resulted in the entry of more players in the telecommunications industry. The two major players, PLDT/Smart Communications and Globe Telecom, are now joined by other telco providers including Converge, Digitel, and Bayantel. Technologies available include 2G, 3G, 4G/LTE, 5G, Broadband Wireless Access, and Microwave Wireless Data Network.

Central Visayas is host to the second largest and busiest port in the country. Its location and surrounding deep sea harbors make it an ideal hub for goods moving from the Visayas and Mindanao regions to other Southeast Asian countries. The ports operate under the Cebu Ports Authority and the Philippine Ports Authority. The Cebu International Port links the Visayas and Mindanao regions to Taiwan, Hong Kong, Vietnam, Malaysia, Singapore, and Indonesia.

The Mactan (Cebu) International Airport (MCIA) is a vital international gateway for products and people, for both domestic and international destinations. It only takes between 2 to 4 hours to travel to 14 Asia-Pacific cities.

Central Visayas has a total of 2,854 health facilities, 2,349 of which are barangay health stations, 160 rural health units, 67 hospitals, and 2 city health offices. Of this, 8 are classified as level 3 facilities, 20 as level 2, and 34 as level 1. The profiles in the CMCI section show the available health facilities and health workers for each city/municipality.

Other Economic Indicators

Tourism arrivals in the region were on the rise between 2016-2019 but dipped in 2020 across all provinces as the industry was severely affected by the pandemic. Exports and investments followed a similar trend. The bulk of the region's exports come from Cebu. For the years 2020 and 2021, investments poured mainly into Cebu and Bohol, with Cebu getting the lion's share of both BOI- and SEC-registered investments. Major schools and universities produce over 80,000 graduates contributing to an abundant and diverse supply of manpower skills in the region.

Doing Business

One of the most important sections of this factbook is a step-by-step guide on setting up shop in the Philippines. It includes the cost of doing business, showing the approximate costs of power, water, telecommunication, manpower, and office and industrial space rental rates.

Department of Trade and Industry Services

The Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) is tasked to create an economic and business environment that will promote the growth of enterprises and support a fair and robust trade of goods and services. It is the coordinating agency for all government activities that relate to trade, industry, and investments, as well as the regulatory body to ensure that fair competition prevails.

The DTI has 3 divisions to carry out these functions: the Consumer Protection Group that implements programs to ensure the protection of consumer rights and education; the Small and the Medium Enterprise Development Division that assists local small and medium enterprises; and the Industry Development Division that assists investors in setting up their business and addressing their information needs.

The DTI sets priority industries that it actively promotes in the region. Localized roadmaps are prepared to ensure the growth of each priority industry.

Central Visayas at a Glance

Demographics

The Central Visayas Region (Region VII) is a group of islands at the center of the Philippine archipelago, between the major islands of Luzon and Mindanao. It is bounded on the north by the Visayan Sea, on the east by the Camotes Sea, on the south by the Mindanao Sea, and on the west by the province of Negros Occidental.

Central Visayas is the second smallest region in the Philippines with a total land area of 14,923 square kilometers (sq km) or 5% of the country's total land area. In 2020, the region had a population of 8,081,988, or 7.41% of the country's population, growing at an annual average of 1.88% from 2015 to 2020.

The region is composed of the provinces of Bohol, Cebu, Negros Oriental, and Siquijor. It has 16 cities, three of which are classified as Highly Urbanized Cities (HUCs), 116 municipalities, and 3,003 barangays. The HUCs are Cebu, Mandaue, and Lapu-Lapu.

Central Visayas is one of the eight anchor tourist destinations in the country. But while tourism stitches all four provinces, each has its own unique advantage. Not one has a monopoly of resources or infrastructure; what one province lacks, the other provinces in the region complement. The strength of the region therefore lies in its diversity.

Central Visayas, the fourth largest regional economy in the country, is host to many industries, including ship building, Information and Communications Technology (ICT) & IT-enabled services, electronics, wearables, food processing, marine products, tourism, houseware and furniture, among others.

Population: 8.08 M (2020 census)
Population Density: 509 persons per sq. m (2020 census)
Composition: Bohol, Cebu, Negros Oriental, Siquijor

The pandemic that began in 2020 continues to disrupt the global economy, and recovery is expected to take at least a few years. It has taken its toll on regional economies, including that of Region VII.

Central Visayas, the fourth largest regional economy in the country, is host to many industries, including ship building, Information and Communications Technology (ICT) & IT-enabled services, electronics, wearables, food processing, marine products, tourism, houseware and furniture, among others.

PSA data shows that Central Visayas ranked 4th in regional share of the country's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in 2020. Its Gross Regional Domestic Product (GRDP) growth rate of 7.1% in 2018 was higher than the national growth rate of 6.2%. The region's economy started showing signs of slowing down in 2019 and further dipped in 2020 when the pandemic began.

In 2020, GRDP decreased by 9.9% due to the economic slowdown brought about by the community lockdowns. The services sector maintained its position as top contributor with 68%, followed by industry 24.6% and agriculture 7.4%. (SOURCE: PSA 2020 RSET)

BOHOL: Bohol, the country's 10th largest island, is located approximately 700 km south of Manila, and 70 km southeast of Mactan Island, Cebu. A first-class province, it is divided into three congressional districts, one component city, 47 municipalities, and 1,109 barangays. With an oval-shaped mainland and 72 surrounding smaller islands, its total land area of 484,095 hectares (has.) is characterized by rolling and hilly terrain. The city of Tagbilaran is Bohol's main business capital, and the center of governance, education, and transportation. Also known as the 'City of Friendship', it is situated at the southwestern part of the province.

Famous for its white sand beaches, Bohol is a favorite destination of both local and foreign tourists. It is well on its way to becoming the region's prime eco-cultural tourist destination and agro-industrial center. Bohol's gentle rolling terrain makes it ideal for commercial and industrial development. Its fertile soil and abundant water supply make the province ideal for agro-forestry and high-value agricultural production. Investment areas in the identified Special Economic Zone are focused on eco-tourism, light industries, and agro-industrial development.

CEBU: Cebu Province is located east of Negros and west of Leyte and Bohol. It is composed of the island of Cebu, and the smaller islands of Mactan, Bantayan, Malapascua, Olango, and Camotes. The Cebu mainland has a hilly and rugged mountainous range traversing its entire long and narrow length running from north to south, rising to 3,400 feet at its peak, and tapering down on both ends with flatlands mainly along its coastline. This unique topography allows tourists easy access to the mountains as well as the sea, and provides a variety of nature sites like rivers, waterfalls, springs, and caves. Cebu offers a wide range of world-class amenities, such as luxury hotels, beach resorts, first-class restaurants, and golf courses.

Approximately 5,000 sq. km in size, Cebu Province is composed of 3 Highly Urbanized Cities (HUCs), 6 component cities, and 44 municipalities. Its capital, Cebu City, is known as the 'Queen City of the South'. One of the most developed provinces in the country, Cebu is the economic hub of Visayas and Mindanao. Its strategic location and natural deep seascape make it ideal for trading and port operations; it is home to over 80% of inter-island shipping capacity in the Philippines.

Cebu's economy is driven by the services sector, followed by manufacturing and tourism. In the 1990s, the province was quick to open its doors to the BPO sector.

In 2004, there were only four BPO companies with 1,200 employees. By 2017, the number of BPOs had grown to 456, employing over 100,000. As of yearend 2020, Cebu was host to close to 600 BPO companies that employed close to 150,000. This industry stayed afloat during the pandemic as companies shifted to work from home (WFH) arrangements.

Cebu has also been consistently one of the country's top exporting provinces. Its international port and airport facilities make it an ideal location for manufacturing and export companies.

NEGROS ORIENTAL: The Province of Negros Oriental (NegOr) is located in the southeastern portion of Negros Island. It is bound in the north and west by Negros Occidental while Tanon Strait separates Negros from the Island of Cebu; in the west are Apo Island and Siquijor. Its capital, Dumaguete City, also referred to as the 'City of Gentle People,' is the province's seat of government.

NegOr has a land area of 5,385.53 sq. km and its terrain consists of rolling hills, a few plateaus, and mountain ranges. The province is subdivided into 20 municipalities and 5 cities, which are further subdivided into 557 barangays. Dumaguete is NegOr's most populous city, despite having the smallest land area.

The province is also a favorite destination among local and foreign tourists. Its laidback pace and lifestyle, as well as its interesting mix of culture and modernization, has made it a magnet for foreign nationals who have chosen to call it home.

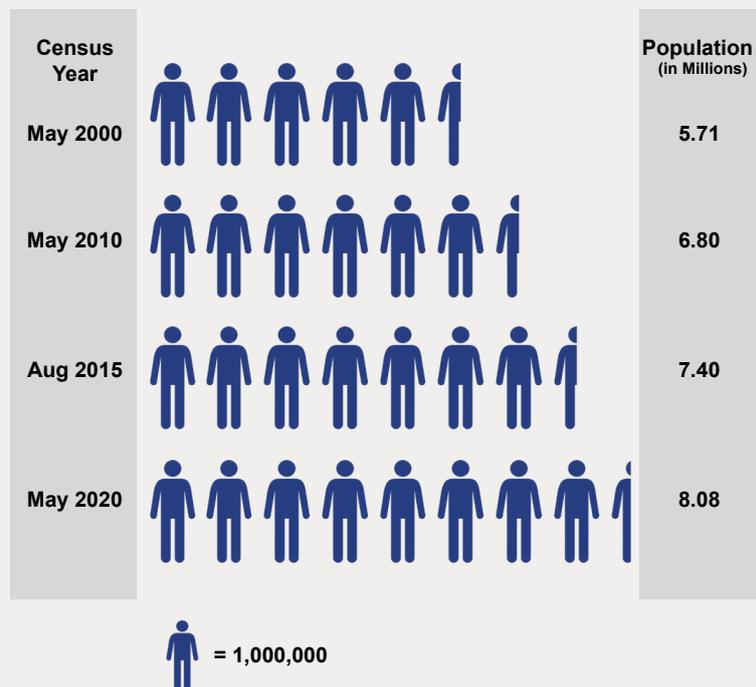

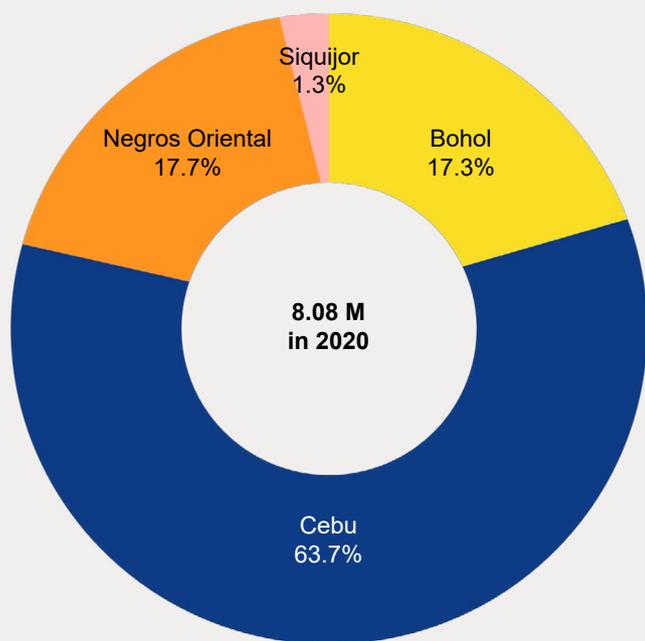

NegOr's vast and fertile land makes it ideal for agriculture. While agriculture remains as it's NegOr's major industry, tourism and the recent growth of the Business Outsourcing Process (BPO) sector and other technology-related industries, make the province ripe for investments. In the past few years, the interest of foreign investors in the country's smaller, less congested cities has resulted in the rapid development of BPO Centers in Dumaguete and Tanjay. Companies can do business for much less cost, while communities benefit from the influx of jobs and other investments.

SIQUIJOR: Siquijor is the smallest province that completes the Central Visayas Region. It is located 30 km from Negros Island and approximately 565 aerial km from Manila. It is bound in the north by Cebu Island, in the northwest to the west by Negros Island, the east by Camiguin island, and in the south by mainland Mindanao. Siquijor, a coastal municipality in the island province of Siquijor, is the provincial capital.

Siquijor's total land area is only 90.70 sq. km. This 'Island Paradise of the Visayas' which used to be known as 'Island of Fire' or 'Isla del Fuego,' is one of the most beautiful islands in the country. It has powdery white sandy beaches along its 102-km coastline, clear crystal waters, and is rich in marine biodiversity. With the island's practice of mystic traditions, complete with magic potions, shamans, witches and sorcerers, it has earned a reputation that fuels the fire of its growing tourism industry.

Trading is the backbone of Siquijor's commercial activities, with trade development dominated by small and micro-traders.

Population

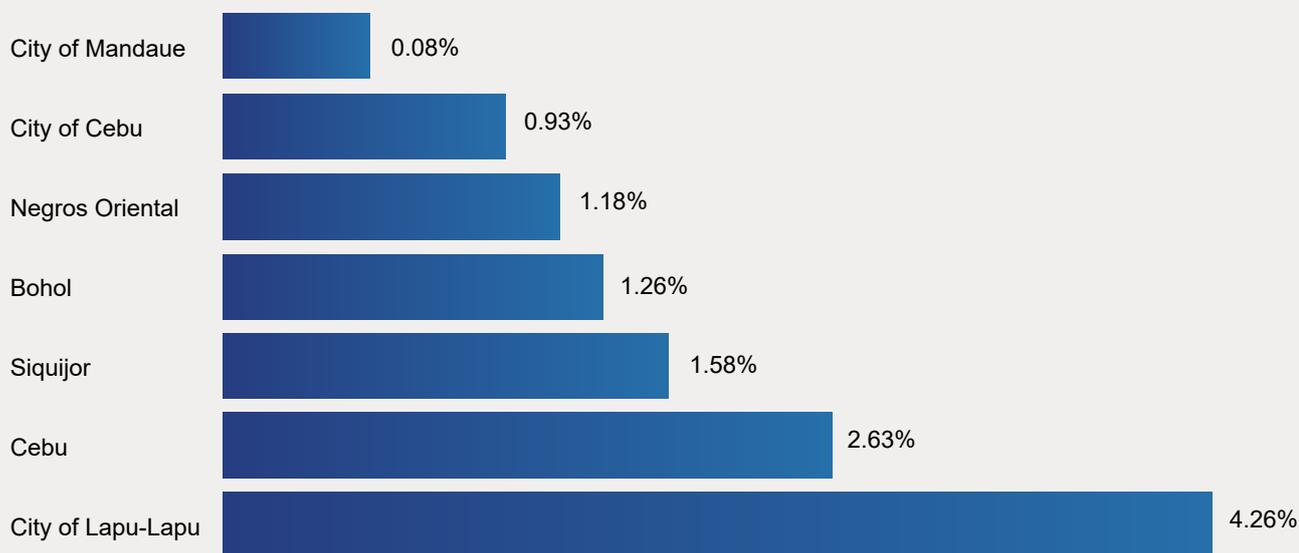

The succeeding discussion on Central Visayas' population is based on the results of the 2020 Census of Population and Housing (2020 CPH).

As of May 2020, the total population of Central Visayas was 8,080,988, representing 7.41% of the country's total population. It grew by 1.88% from the 7,396,898 recorded in 2015.

Cebu Province (including the 3 Highly Urbanized Cities: Cebu, Mandaue and Lapu-Lapu) has the largest population in the region. Its population of 5,151,274 comprises 63.7% of the total population of Central Visayas. Cebu Province is also the fastest growing province with an annual population growth rate (PGR) of 2.26% from 2015 to 2020. It was followed by Siquijor (1.58%) and Bohol (1.26%). Negros Oriental posting the lowest provincial PGR of 1.18%.

Population Density

Population density refers to the number of persons per square kilometer (sq. km) of land.

With a total land area of approximately 300,000 sq. km, the population density of the Philippines in 2020 was at 363 persons per sq. km, representing an 8% increase from 2015.

Central Visayas has consistently exceeded the population density of the country as a whole. Its 509 persons/sq. km in 2020 surpassed the national population density of 363.

Among the region's 4 provinces, Cebu (excluding HUCs) recorded the highest population density at 673/sq. km. For the HUCs located in Cebu Province, Mandaue City was the most densely populated with 14,461 persons/ sq. km. It was followed by Lapu-Lapu City with 8,565 persons/ sq. km. Cebu City registered a population density of 3,061 persons/sq. km.

Climate

The Central Visayas Region has fairly predictable weather throughout the year. It logs temperatures between 28 - 30 degrees Celsius (°C). The summer months between March-May are usually the hottest and most humid months of the year. The rainy season usually begins in the month of June and runs through December.

Summer destinations in the region's provinces see tourists unable to resist the lure of the sun and sandy beaches. Cebu has been voted multiple times by renowned international travel magazine Conde Nast Traveler as one of the most beautiful islands in the world. Bohol, Negros Oriental, and Siquijor each have their share of tourist destinations that continue to attract both local and foreign tourists.

Although Central Visayas has had its fair share of disasters and super typhoons, it has proven its resiliency, quickly recovering from a 7.1 magnitude earthquake in 2013, and typhoon Yolanda (Haiyan) in 2013 and Odette in 2021.

Income & Prices

The data on Average Family Income and Expenditures and Annual per Capita Poverty Threshold are for the years 2012-2018 only as statistics are dependent on the date the survey was conducted. Table below shows data from the latest survey.

Average family income for Central Visayas increased by 14.4% between 2012 and 2015. This further grew by 28.9% from 2015 to 2018. Average family expenditures increased by 17.7% in the 2012-2015 period but this growth slowed down to 5.7% between 2015 to 2018.

Annual per capita poverty threshold increased by 20.7% from Php18,767 in 2012 to Php 22,644 in 2015 and by 13.7% to Php 25,745 in 2018.

The Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) generates and announces the monthly Consumer Price Index (CPI) based on a nationwide survey of prices for a given basket of goods and services. Two important indicators, the inflation rate and purchasing power of the peso (PPP), are derived from the CPI; these are important in monitoring price stability and the value of the country's currency.

The CPI is an indicator of the change in the average retail prices of a fixed basket of goods and services commonly purchased by households relative to a base year. psa.gov.ph

The Central Visayas Gross Regional Domestic Product (GRDP) increased to 7.6 percent in 2018. It increased by 6.2% in 2019 and decreased by 9.9% in 2020. Growth was driven mostly by the Services and Industry sectors.

Among all the provinces in Central Visayas, Siquijor registered the highest increase in CPI between 2016-2019. It increased by 3.3% in 2016 and 2017, 10.2% in 2017-2018, and 3.6% in 2018-2019. This however decreased by 16.8% in 2020. Bohol surpassed this increase only in 2016-2017 when its CPI grew by 3.9%. The CPI decreased across all provinces during the pandemic.

The inflation rate in Central Visayas was on an upward trend between the years 2016 and 2019. The region logged its highest inflation growth in 2018 at 5.6%. Siquijor had the highest growth in 2018 at 10.1%.

The purchasing power of the peso continued to weaken from 2016 to 2019 but it improved in 2020 across all provinces in the region. The peso was weakest at P0.80 in the provinces of Cebu and Siquijor in 2019 while Bohol recorded the highest purchasing power of the peso at P0.98 in 2020.

Economic Accounts

The Economic Accounts show a glimpse of the economy.

Gross Regional Domestic Product (GRDP) measures the economic performance of a region, showing the value of goods and services produced in the region. It measures the relative contribution of 3 major economic sectors: Agriculture, Hunting, Forestry, and Fishing (AHFF), Industry and Services. (Philippine Statistics Authority: psa.gov.ph)

GRDP is usually reported in terms of growth rate and expressed in real terms or at constant prices.

The Central Visayas Gross Regional Domestic Product (GRDP) at constant 2018 prices increased by 7.1% in both periods between 2016-2017 and 2017-2018. The region's economy started showing signs of slowing down in 2019 when the increase in GRDP dipped to 6.2%. As expected, economic performance slipped by 9.9% in 2020 because of the pandemic. Despite the decline, Central Visayas remains as the 4th largest contributor to the country's Gross Domestic Product (GDP), after the National Capital Region (NCR), CALABARZON, and Central Luzon.

In 2020, Services accounted for 68% of the region's total GRDP, followed by Industry at 24.6%, and Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing (AFF) at 7.4%.

In terms of peso value, the region's 2020 economic performance stood at Php 1.129 trillion, less than the Php1.254 trillion in 2019. The decline was due to the negative growth of both Industry and Services at -5% and -5.2%, respectively.

AFF posted a positive 0.3% growth. Among the industries in the Services sector, accommodation and food service activities experienced the biggest decline at -43.4%. This was expected because of the imposition of quarantine rules, community lockdowns, and strict travel restrictions resulting in the steep decline of tourist arrivals in 2020. Other services also declined at -38.8%, and transportation and storage at -37.4%. In the Industry sector, Construction recorded the highest negative growth at -36.4%, Mining and Quarrying at -30.6%, and Manufacturing at -12.9%.

AFF and some industries in the Services sector provided a glimmer of hope amid the downward trend in the other industries. AFF posted a 4.2% growth while Financial and Insurance Activities grew by 9.3%, Information and Communication at 2.7%, and Public Administration and Defense by 1.1%.

The region's economic managers are looking forward to a more positive outlook as restrictions have eased and the vaccination rollouts are underway across the country.

Cities and Municipalities Competitive Index (CMCI)

■ About the Index*

A. Overview

The Cities and Municipalities Competitiveness Index (CMCI) is an annual ranking of Philippine cities and municipalities. It was developed by the National Competitiveness Council through the Regional Competitiveness Committees (RCCs) with the assistance of the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). Each RCC is composed of members from the public and private sectors, and the academe.

The CMCI local competitiveness framework adopted the one developed by economist, book author, and Harvard Business School professor Michael E. Porter. This framework is also being used in a number of global competitiveness surveys. Porter's definition of competitiveness focused on the idea of productivity, simply defined as output per unit of input. Effectively, it attempts to measure how many final products can be produced using a limited number of inputs.

Productivity also requires that efficient outputs command value in the local up to the global marketplace. Porter defined competitiveness as based on location and is essentially the productivity that companies located there can achieve (Porter, 2004). He explains location as a country's underlying source of its resources and productivity, how it uses these resources. Using the same lens, local competitiveness is how a city or municipality knows its resources and how it uses these to improve its standard of living, and ultimately making its citizens more prosperous.

The RCCs have been tasked to track local competitiveness indicators, formulate programs to improve competitiveness and engage in investment-promotion activities to attract investors and create new jobs at the regional level.

Local competitiveness is how a city or municipality knows its resources and how it uses these to improve its standard of living, and ultimately making its citizens more prosperous.

B. Competitiveness Rankings

CMCI is a program that encourages local government units (LGUs) to gather and submit data that measure their performance using five core and convergent pillars. Cities and municipalities are ranked by their competitiveness based on an overall competitiveness score — the sum of their scores in the five pillars that pool data from several sub-indicators.

The main pillars are: economic dynamism, government efficiency, infrastructure, resiliency (2017), and innovation (2021). Each pillar has 10 indicators that provide a more detailed view of the local economic status.

Economic dynamism refers to how well an LGU creates a stable expansion of businesses, industries, and high employment.

Government efficiency refers to the quality and reliability of government services, and its support for effective and sustainable productive expansion.

Infrastructure refers to the physical building blocks that connect, expand, and sustain a locality and its surroundings to enable the provision of goods and services.

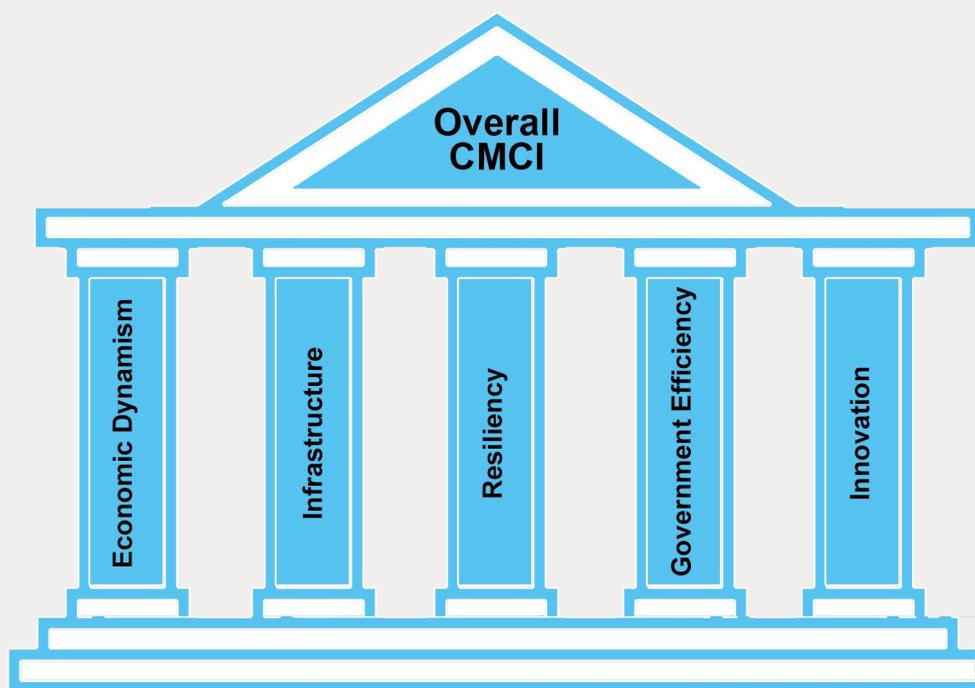

Resiliency shows how the LGUs prepare their locations, environment, firms, and people to respond to different kinds of disruptive to ensure sustainable growth.

Innovation refers to the creation, development, and implementation of new products, processes or services that aim to improve efficiency, effectiveness, and competitive advantage. Since innovation was added only in 2021, the rankings found in this eFactbook will only have the first four pillars.

Scores are determined by both the values of the actual data and the completeness of the submitted data. The higher the score of a city or municipality, the more competitive it is.

C. Competitiveness Ranking Categories

Provinces are the largest units in the political structure of the Philippines. They consist of varying numbers of municipalities and, in some cases, of component cities. Their functions and duties in relation to their component cities and municipalities are generally coordinative and supervisory.

Highly Urbanized Cities (HUCs) are those with a minimum population of 200,000 inhabitants, as certified by the National Statistics Office, and with a latest annual income of at least Php50 million(M), as certified by the city treasurer.

Cities that do not meet the requirements of HUCs are considered Component Cities of the province where they are geographically located. If a component city is located within the boundaries of two or more provinces, it is considered a component of the province where it used to be a municipality.

First Class Municipalities are those that had an average annual income of Php55M or more during the previous four calendar years, while Second Class Municipalities are those with a latest annual income of Php45M to Php54,999,999 during the past four years.

Third Class Municipalities are those that have an average annual income of Php35M to Php44,999,999; Fourth Class Municipalities, of Php25M to Php34,999,999; Fifth Class Municipalities, of Php15M to Php24,999,999; and Sixth Class Municipalities have less than Php15M average annual income.

D. Uses of Index

The CMCI is a measurement tool that can be used to empower cities and municipalities to gauge their current level of competitiveness against global standards, identify areas for improvement and growth, and launch reforms and initiatives to further boost local competitiveness. The ranking compels LGUs to become more efficient and create a business-friendly environment.

As a diagnostic tool: LGUs can use the Index as a diagnostic tool to assess the competitiveness of their city or municipality, and identify areas for improvement and collaboration. Data can provide insights for policy making, development planning, and investment promotion.

Guide on appropriate business location: For the business community, the CMCI can serve as a guide in deciding where to locate. Aside from the overall score, data on the different indicators will prove valuable depending on the specific needs of their business.

Take-off point for further research:

The Index, which also paints a general picture of Philippine cities and municipalities, may be used by the academe, civil society, and even tourists as a take-off point for further research.

Visayas

NOTES:
 (H) Includes ERC-approved Transmission Projects;
 (C) Includes Major Transmission Projects filed to ERC for approval;
 (O) Includes Major Generation Capacity Additions based on DOE List of Committed Power Projects as of August 2020.

In a report published by the National Grid Corporation of the Philippines (NGCP), the country has a total dependable capacity of 21,258 MW consisting of 69% from conventional power plants (coal, oil-based and natural gas) and 31% from RE-based power plants (geothermal, hydro, biomass, solar and wind). The Visayas has a dependable capacity of 3,131 MW, 53.6% from conventional plants and 46.4% from RE-based plants.

The Visayas transmission network is composed of five sub-grids: Panay, Negros, Cebu, Bohol, and Leyte-Samar. Submarine cables provide sharing capability for excess generation between islands to accommodate growing demands of areas connected to the grid.

Data are extracted from the Philippine Forestry Statistics published by the Forest Management Bureau.

There are 3 types of water supply systems in Central Visayas: Level I or point of source (deep wells, shallow wells, covered or improved dug wells, open dug wells, rainwater collection, and developed springs), common in rural areas; Level II or the communal faucet system come from springs and dug wells; Level III or individual consumer connection systems are usually served by government-owned/operated water distribution utilities.

Telecommunication

The National Telecommunications Commission is the government agency that regulates public telecommunications services for both public and private use.

■ Port Facilities

The Cebu International Port (CIP), the second largest and busiest port in the country, links the island of Cebu to many countries around the world. Its strategic location makes it an ideal hub for products coming from the Visayas and Mindanao. The ports located in Central Visayas operate under 2 port systems: (1) Cebu Ports Authority for the ports in Cebu and the (2) Philippine Ports Authority for the ports located in other areas in the region.

Cebu Port

The CPA was created through the enactment of Republic Act No. 7621, signed on June 26, 1992. It began operations and officially took over all Cebu ports on January 1, 1996.

Source: <https://dotr.gov.ph>

Under the Cebu Baseport are 5 subports: Mandaue, Danao, Sta. Fe, Toledo and Argao.

The port facilities described in Annex C are owned and operated by the Cebu Ports Authority (CPA).

■ Airport Facilities

The Mactan-Cebu International Airport is not just a gateway but a destination in itself. The airport facility, which was originally built in 1956, is now the second largest and busiest international airline hub outside of Manila. It connects the country to the rest of the world as it is host to various domestic and international airlines with destinations in Asia, United States of America, United Arab Emirates, and Europe.

Tourist arrivals in Central Visayas

Tourist arrivals in the region were on the uptick prior to 2020, increasing steadily between 2016 and 2019 at an annual average growth of 17%. But when the pandemic broke out in 2020, followed by government-imposed lockdowns and travel restrictions, all provinces in Central Visayas experienced a downtrend in tourist arrivals, dropping by 83.5%.

Bohol ended 2017 and 2018 strong with tourist arrivals growing at 13% and 32%, respectively. But in 2019, growth in arrivals slowed down to 5.7% before plunging by 89% when the pandemic hit in 2020. The province is the favorite destination of foreign nationals coming from China, Korea, USA, Japan, France, and Taiwan.

Tourist arrivals in Cebu had been growing at an average of 17% between 2017 and 2019. This dropped by 82% during the pandemic year. The province's top 3 markets for tourists are Korea, Japan and China, followed by the USA and Taiwan.

Negros Oriental saw an average tourist arrival growth rate of 14% between 2017 and 2019 before dropping by 82% in 2020. The province's top tourist markets include the USA, China, France, Germany, and Canada. Siquijor recorded the highest average growth rate between 2017 and 2019, with tourist arrivals growing at an average of 26%. This dropped by 82% in 2020. Siquijor's top tourism markets include China, France, Germany, USA, and the United Kingdom.

In the third and fourth quarters of 2021, increments in arrivals were noted when the lockdowns slowly eased. In order to stay afloat at the height of the pandemic, hotels that were severely affected by the drop in tourist arrivals became quarantine/isolation facilities.

Just as the tourism sector was showing promising developments in 2021, super typhoon Odette hit Central Visayas in December. It severely damaged tourism destination sites in Bohol, Cebu, Negros, and Siquijor, dampening hopes for the sector's early and speedy recovery.

While this was a major setback especially for provinces where tourism is a major industry, local government units are ramping up restoration efforts so the travel sector can bounce back. With the easing of restrictions in the first quarter of 2022, the country is slowly opening up to domestic and international travel, and the tourism industry is expected to recover from the slump experienced in the past two years.

Exports

In 2020, exports from Region 7 totalled US$5.5 B, with 99.9% of which came from Cebu. Exports grew at an average of 6.7% between 2016 and 2020.

See Annex D, E, F for a complete listing of exports of Central Visayas.

Japan has consistently been the top market for Region 7's exports with an average share of over 20% in the last 5 years (2016 to 2020). Hongkong and China are a close second, followed by the USA and Thailand. Products exported to Japan were mainly other vessels for the transport of goods and people, ignition wiring sets used in vehicles, aircrafts or ships, and electrical and electronic machinery, equipment and parts.

Investments

Statistics on investment inflow in Central Visayas come from two sources: the Board of Investments (BOI), and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Companies registered with the BOI are those engaged in industries eligible for BOI incentives. The types of industries and incentives are outlined in more detail under the Doing Business section. Companies organized as a partnership or a corporation register with the SEC, while sole proprietorships register with the DTI. There may be overlaps especially with BOI and SEC registrations.

See Annex G for the list of BOI-registered investment in Central Visayas.

■ BOI Registration

WHAT BUSINESS CAN REGISTER WITH THE BOI?

An enterprise is qualified to register with the BOI when it is:

- At least a 60% Filipino-owned enterprise that exports at least 50% of its services or products; or is engaged in a preferred area of investment under the current Investment Priority Plan (IPP) activities
- A domestic foreign corporation that is more than 40% owned, which will export at least 70% of services or products, or engage in IPP activities deemed as a pioneer project as defined in Article 17 of E.O. 226, as amended.

- Engages in agricultural activities or services essential to the country's self-sufficiency program
- Produces non-conventional fuels or manufactures equipment that utilizes non-conventional sources of energy

Domestic foreign companies need to attain 60% Filipino ownership within 30 years from registration unless they export or are planning to export 100% of their production.

Domestic companies, subsidiaries, and branch offices that will manufacture and export 100% of their production and services may qualify for registration with PEZA, pursuant to the Special Economic Zone Act (R.A. No. 7916 series of 1995, as amended).

If the enterprise located inside the economic zone will export below 100% of its production, special permission should be sought from PEZA, which could allow 30% of production for the domestic market. Registration with other Investment Promotion Agencies (IPA) in the Philippines is also allowed as long as the proponents meet the required criteria for registration under given circumstances.
